

Are Your School Improvement Plans Optimized for Breakthrough?

As a former superintendent, I have seen how even well-planned initiatives stall. However, real breakthrough can begin and improvement can accelerate when districts persistently address these three high-impact or perhaps hidden areas.

Vision to Instruction Breakdown

It's unclear how (or if) your mission and values inform and/or drive your program, leadership, instructional and pupil service teams.

PD Without Implementation

You've invested in professional learning. Now improve staff efficacy with clear expectations for use, coaching, and feedback.

Data-Rich Insight-Poor

You assess performance. To elevate your results, you may need to deepen your analysis and how you apply it for improvement.
